Betreff: Launch of World Photography 'Collection'

Dear Photographer,

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing today to inform you of the launch of the 'World Photography Collection' by the World Photography Awards Organisation.

The 'World Photography Collection' is one of the most sophisticated, global marketing tools for photographers and has been created to help photographers from around the world market themselves internationally and have their work promoted to galleries, collectors and creative professionals worldwide. www.wpcollection.org <<http://www.wpcollection.org>> <<http://www.wpcollection.org>> <http://www.wpcollection.org/>

Our global network of industry professionals can access photographers and view your portfolio: galleries are searching our database to find their next exhibition; dealers and collectors are buying prints (commission FREE) through the site; and creative professionals including art directors, creative directors & Editorial Photo Editors from advertising agencies, magazines, marketing agencies and media companies are actively searching the 'World Photography Collection' to hire photographers for international assignments across the world.

The 'World Photography Collection' does NOT take any commission on sales made through our website or commissioned work. Clients are able to speak directly to the chosen photographer.

Each photographer is given a dedicated page - their Homepage - which includes their portfolio as well as their news, upcoming exhibitions, publications, prizes/awards etc. Each time the photographer edits or updates their profile, their news will be automatically notified on the galleries, dealers & Collectors and creative professional's homepages.
